Preface

Years from now this yearbook will bring back pleasant memories of the many happy days spent within the walls of E. H. S. The fond remembrance of a colorful operetta, a last minute victory or defeat, the cheerful atmosphere prevailing during club meetings, the close bond between student and teacher, the annual Junior Prom, the building with its familiar rooms, the auditorium, the gymnasium, in fact everything that will remind one of his school days, will be like turning back the clock to those carefree high school days. May the 1945 Tattler be the guardian of your lasting memories.

The Rose and the Class

Not just an ordinary rose, but the American Beauty Rose is the theme of this year's annual. It helps to create a patriotic atmosphere, and it represents our career during four years at the Emmaus High School in allegoric fashion.

In the five books to follow, we shall show in words and in pictures how the class, like a rose, had to be planted, cultivated, and pruned to maturity.

As a frail slip, freshly planted, the class started its growth in the year nineteen hundred and thirty-nine. During four years of slow development, it had to be taken care of just as a gardener fosters and trims his prize blossoms. During the years, under the constant care of parents and faculty, the cultivated slip developed into something definite and fine, as an educated youth, an expert musician, a muscular athlete, or a scientific farmer.

Finally, the bud opened, and the full-grown rose spread its petals to the sun; the class was graduated and took its place in the work and play of the world.

A Note of Thanks to Our Faculty

Before we, the Nineteen Hundred and Forty-three graduates, go out into this war-torn world, we wish to extend our heartiest thanks in appreciation to the group of substantial faculty members, who have devoted time and effort to make us well-informed Young Americans.

Remember. It was four years ago that we first set foot upon the soil of Emmaus High School property as scared, little Freshmen, and now we are full fledged Seniors about to leave. We might easily be compared to the planting of rose slips under the careful cultivation of our planters. We both were young and starting to make good on our long trip through life. Here we grew, mentally and physically, by the instruction of our patient teachers, and if we have not gained in knowledge by their unceasing endeavor to help us, it is no fault of theirs, but our own.

To all, go our thanks for the knowledge, which they have given us, and for making our High School Life so enjoyable.

ADMINISTRATION

Interested Citizens Supply Suitable Materials

"The welfare of the States in which we live, and the safety of the whole republic demand that the still remaining bonds of ignorance be unloosed and broken."

—ROBERT CHARLES WINTHROP.

In a time of turmoil and strife, when nations are fighting to attain and preserve freedom, education takes a very important stand. The Board of Education undertakes an important task, when it attempts to provide a means of educating people so they may recognize and retain this liberty.

In the course of its work, our board must see that our curriculum is kept in line with changing conditions, that capable teachers are employed, that vacancies are properly filled, and that suitable taxes are levied. They safeguard the health of the students by employing a school nurse, who prevents disease by periodical check-ups and by visiting and nursing the sick.

After serious consideration, the directors added many new courses to the curriculum during the year. This, together with many concessions made to the public for the use of school equipment to foster civilian defense movements, constitute only several of its important accomplishments.

The following are present active members of the board: Arthur Iobst, President; Claude Keller, Secretary; George Harwick, Treasurer; Seth Albright, Edwin Muth, Ralph Weidner, and Robert Stauffer, who, following a leave of absence for military service, is again an active member.

ADMINISTRATORS

HOWARD J. YEAGER, B.A., M.A.

Superintendent of Schools

As you leave your high school at a moment of world tumult, I trust that you carry with you an abiding faith in those principles which have made America what she is today and which have made possible the privileges which you have enjoyed here. I hope you will continue to learn and to keep pace with the times.

We do not know what the morrow will bring but we do know that it will not be exactly as it is today. New frontiers need intellectual leadership more than they need the husky pioneer who could stand nature's hardship in the time of Horace Greely.

In time of war, when people are bent on destruction, bigger and sturdier machines are a tremendous advantage. Yet history has always shown and probably will continue to show that it takes intelligence and generalship to win a war.

If you continue to study, remain loyal and use sound common sense, a successful career is assured.

ALLEN F. HELLER, B.S.

Principal of the High School

Our chief concern is the preservation of freedom and democracy. You have experienced real life by participating in school projects, school government, civic activities, and being solely responsible for many of them, thus being part of a real democracy. You are fortunate to graduate from a school that uses democratic methods to teach democracy.

You are entering a world torn by strife. If our liberties are to endure, we must be worthy of them. We must live the ideals of democracy and assume our responsibilities as well as our privileges. Think clearly and be ready to make any sacrifice, keep bodies strong, place righteousness first, country above party, statesmanship above politics, and love above hate.

May each be worthy of the liberty we enjoy and may success crown your efforts always.

Young Petals Strive for Maturity

As the rose in full bloom spreads open its petals, so do the pages of this yearbook now reveal a likeness in the nature and youth of the class of 1943. In the ensuing lines, we wish to show the development of the immature youth, like a young slip, into that, which amounts to the hope of tomorrow, enlightened American youth.

After watching a gardener carefully cultivating and weeding his garden, we can visualize a parallel in the faculty performing its function developing and enlightening its proteges, the students of today, the builders of the future.

We have now completed our senior year and can look back and remember ourselves as the green, uncertain Freshmen, the more confident and eager Sophomores, the aspiring Juniors, looking ahead to their year of leadership in school as seniors and finally Seniors, the last step of development before we reached our stage of full bloom. We are now ready to carve a niche for ourselves in the world.

Our Record, Educational, Social, Athletic

Imagine one hundred and seventy-seven Freshmen anxiously waiting in the auditorium for their respective room assignments and you have a perfect picture of the beginning of the class of '45.

Freshman school days just dragged on and the permission to hold one social function was ignored. It was not until we received the sophisticated title of Sophomores that we realized we were now in High School. Activities began to influence our classmates and by April 7 the class had acquired enough courage to sponsor "The Sophomore Spring Swing." As our first social function, it was a big success and, at the melodic strains of Bobby Kline's orchestra faded into the blue, we blinked and opened our eyes in amazement to find ourselves Juniors.

As Juniors, we went full speed ahead in all school activities. Familiar names appeared on athletic rosters, there were junior girl cheerleaders and all school organizations began to absorb Juniors as their leaders. December 7, 1942 also had a definite meaning to the class of "45," because in its Junior year the class colors, maroon and white, were changed to red, white, and blue. With this patriotic color combination, the decorations for the Junior Prom were molded into a symbol of victory. Harry Romig's orchestra gave the final touch to what was acclaimed the most successful social function of our school career, The Junior Prom.

Yes, now we are Seniors and school days which used to drag along, are swept swiftly into the past. Seniority meant the full responsibility of publishing a school newspaper, organizing a class yearbook, presenting two senior class plays, and the sponsoring of the Halloween, Christmas, and Valentine dances. These tasks were all done, and done well, and as a last proof of successful accomplishment the class will have a Senior Ball after graduation.

Here is a tall, slender lass, who entered our school in her junior year. She is known to everyone for her ever-ready smile and her cheery disposition, which have won her many friends. "Jacky's" favorite pastime is skating or reading. Her ambition is to become either a writer or a defense worker.

Whenever you are down in the dumps and want to be cheered up, go to "Hal" and your troubles are over. This tall, dark and handsome lad has taken up photography as his hobby, and is one of our class photographers. Both as a photographer and as a student, he is tops. Drafting is the field he hopes to enter after graduation.

Not a friend to one but to all—that's Karyl. She exceeds many, when it comes to having lessons prepared. When not studying, Karyl has leisure for hiking and reading. She expects to go into nurses training in order to become an Army nurse.

Another popular senior boy is that small, brown-haired, but handsome Clark. "Abner" is a great fan of all sports. For a hobby, he loves to participate in golfing, swimming and dancing. In the near future Clark wants to join Uncle Sam's Navy. Could a girl in every port have anything to do with his desire to enlist?

Bang! Did you hear that noise? It was only Neal, raising a rumpus again. He is of medium height, dark, and good-looking. "Ed" can usually be found playing pool, his favorite hobby. To help Uncle Sam by joining the Navy is his ambition. Good luck to you, "Ed"!

Pretty, little, curly "Dolly" loves to eat—anything, anytime, anywhere. Our Dolores can dance, and it was good to see her in action in the operetta and at the gym exhibition. For a very short time, she might try business.

"Joe" is a bashful lad, but, when it comes to work, he is right there and very willing to do his part. A member of the F. F. A., "Joe" will probably enter the agricultural world, where he is sure to be a great success. Here's wishing a great fellow luck for the future!

Though Alfred is seldom heard in public, his drawing ability is recognized throughout the school. He talks little, but one is always greeted with a smile or friendly glance, which distinguishes him as a gentleman. Alfred has already gone to the Army, but the memory of his friendly helpfulness remains.

Bernard, a serious-minded and ambitious senior, is radical at times, but a good student. He plans to enter the Air Corps, after he graduates, and therefore is devoting extra time to the necessary preliminaries, which will be required of him. His hobbies are building model airplanes, and golf.

Tall, "Browny" is usually seen with a group of his buddies from room 10, who always have that innocent look on their faces. He was a member of only one team in school, track, but, outside of school, he fished, hiked, and built model airplanes. Although his plans are indefinite, Uncle Sam might decide his future.

That loyal son of Macungie, Johnny Conrad, is usually present but seldom much in evidence, except insofar as his bright plaid shirts are concerned. Although he appears to have a good time in school, he doesn't seem to be overly-interested in studies. On the side, he enjoys reading and likes to hunt and fish.

"Blondie" is a popular girl with a reserve of wit. Excelling in her commercial subjects, she has hopes of securing employment with an established business firm. Althea likes to sleep and listen to the radio. When not engaged in these pastimes, she is usually with Loretta and June.

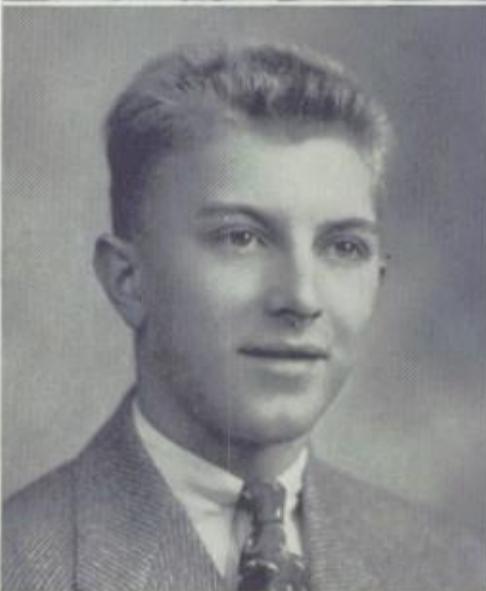

ALTHEA M. DEIBERT

176 North Street

COMMERCIAL

Activities—Girls' Glee Club 1, 2; Girl Reserves 1, 2, 3; Gregg Typist Club 3; Flying Fingers Club 3.

"Bill" Derr, a good-natured fellow from Alburtis, is a leader among his friends. He is easily recognized by his ready smile and short haircut. He puts practical ability before his mental ability in being one of Mr. Schrader's handy-men and also a sports enthusiast. He hopes to join the Navy after graduation.

WILLIAM S. DERR

"Bill"

West Second Street, Alburtis

GENERAL

Activities—Track 2, 3.

"Hank" is another short dark-haired lad whose personality has gained him many friends. He has shown his dramatic ability in the class play, "Ladies of the Jury." His future points to the Navy, though it isn't quite definite. Lots of luck to you, "Hank."

HENRY F. DIEFENDERFER

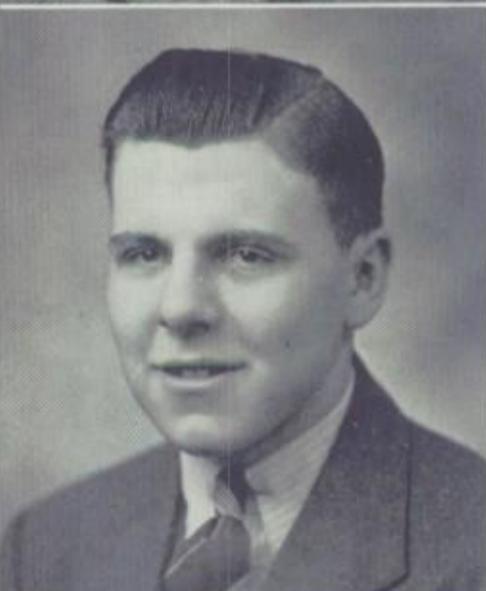

"Hank"

528 Chestnut Street

GENERAL

Activities—Dancing Club 1, 2, 3; Track Manager 2, 3; Arts and Crafts Club 1; Student Council 2; "Ladies of the Jury."

This tall lad, with brown hair and brown eyes, has won many loyal supporters both in school and on the gridiron. "Alfy" is one of the better students of our class and can really study under pressure of the teachers. He, like most other boys, will join the Armed Forces after graduation.

ALFRED C. DIEHL

"Alfy"

650 Walnut Street

GENERAL

Activities—Football 1, 2, 3; Basketball 1, 2; Baseball 1; Yearbook Staff (Athletic Editor) 3; "Ladies of the Jury."

LaRue's ability to make friends results from her lively nature, friendliness towards others and her infectious laugh. She has done her part in athletics by playing guard on the basketball team for the past two years. LaRue is interested in typing and hopes to find a place for herself in the business world of affairs.

"Larry" is the tall, wavy-haired individual, who can usually be seen around Mr. Schrader's shop almost any period of the day. He goes about his work in a quiet and unassuming way but with the determination to succeed. One of our best artists, he likes to draw. Basketball and drawing should point his future.

No, it's not possible, but it's true. All that noise is coming from one person, Dalton. He has blond, curly hair and a pleasing personality that makes him a friend to all. "Borsh's" hobbies are ice skating, swimming, and arguing with teachers. Dalton can study, when he has to, and he expects to enter the Armed Forces after graduation.

Although Ruby is seldom heard, she always has a cheerful smile for everyone. Her sweet personality and willingness to work are two good reasons why Ruby will succeed in whatever she chooses to do. The commercial world is her aim and the achievement of this goal is assured.

Ralph, a tall industrious lad, is usually found in the shop. His hobbies are photography, building model airplanes, and woodcarving. Ralph enjoys all sport—especially football. His main ambition is to become a first-rate photographer.

Mae is one of the quiet girls of the class, but when it comes to typing, her actions speak louder than words. One of her ambitions is to enter the business world and with her ability and initiative she is sure to succeed.

Stephen is a tall, likeable lad who is easily distinguished by his easy-going jovial attitude. "Steve" enjoys drawing, hiking, gunning, and cracking jokes. He is proud of being an Air Raid Warden of his district. "Steve" expects to make the Army his career.

Grace and graciousness, two components of charm, are both attributes of Jean Gilbert, one of the most popular girls in our group. For she always has a ready smile and her dancing ability is greatly admired by her classmates. She is attractive and might easily be called the "Belle of the Class."

There is an old saying that "March comes in like a lamb." Well, so does Ray. In classes, he is so reserved, but out of classes, he isn't the same fellow. All in all, "Horace" is a good sport and a real pal. He is undecided about his future occupation, but he is interested in golf. Who knows, maybe he'll be another slamming Sammy Sneed!

Vivacity personified is "Nellie" in her lighter moods. She can be serious, but it is usually her sunny laughter that betrays her presence among us. Her pleasantly pointed features are high signs of her personality. Rationing of chewing gum has restricted a favorite pastime of hers.

Betty, a tall blonde lass with hazel eyes, is usually seen with her best friend, "Nellie." Betty's hobbies are bicycle riding, dancing, and corresponding with service men. Her chief ambition is to attend Allentown Business College and become a secretary.

"Schmutz" is another one of our students from Macungie. Gerald has proven himself a wizard, when it comes to mathematics. Attending sporting events and ice skating take up his spare time. Although he is undecided as to his future, we are sure "Schmutz" will succeed in whatever he attempts.

Introducing the florist of the class! Carlton's disposition is in direct contrast to his noisy Ford, which takes up most of his spare time. At present, he is helping his father run the florist business. Carlton expects to join a branch of Uncle Sam's service after graduation, preferably the Marine Corps.

Gruver is not behind scholastically. His ambition of becoming an expert architect and electrician should soon be realized.

Is it a dictionary? No! Is it an encyclopedia? No! It's Hankwitz. All kidding aside, this fair haired lad is really the brains of the class. Sense of humor? Yes, he has that too, and if you can find a better basketball student manager anywhere, yell. What "Hank" will do, when he leaves school, is not important, for, with his wide range of knowledge, any job will be a successful undertaking.

She occupies her spare time with bicycle riding, piano playing, and needlework, which certainly is expertly done. We are sure that her well-trained hands will be an asset in her secretarial work.

Lawrence, one of the musicians of the class, played in the band for six years and in the orchestra for two years. After school hours "Killer" can be seen working in the self-service Acme on Main Street. Lawrence is also interested in sports, having starred on the track team for three seasons. Of his many ambitions, two are outstanding: to raise a mustache and to join the Marines.

Her ambition isn't such a strange one now-a-days, for it is to get into one of the women's auxiliaries of the Armed Forces. Good Luck to you!

Always rushing about and last minute work is typical of "lobst," a blue-eyed attractive girl. She devotes most of her time to her leading hobbies, knitting and seeing movies. Though her future is uncertain, she expects to attend college.

Anna, residing near the south end of town, takes an interest in swimming and sewing. Anna has proven herself a good typist, and after graduation, she hopes to obtain a typing position. We definitely know she will succeed in the commercial world.

One of the wittier boys is Robert, who always has a snappy comeback to any remark cast his way. Seriously, though, we are sure his talents of a more serious nature will benefit him as much in his business life as his humorous talents benefit him in his social life. He is undecided as to his future occupation, but hopes to land a position with a future.

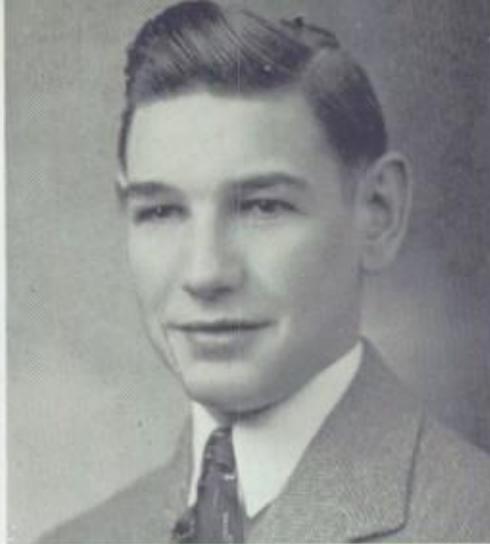

"Louie" is one of the musicians of our class and displays his talent on the trumpet. He is frequently seen bending over a drawing board in the shop and intends to aid his country either in a defense plant or the Armed Service after graduation. For diversion, "Louie" captures gems of nature with his camera.

Flash! Whose shiny gray Ford is whizzing up the street? It's only "Kochie" demonstrating his car. "Kochie" is interested mainly in mechanics and knows all the answers in the mechanical world. Harold has a great personality and is a scream in class. The Senior Class hopes "Kochie" will succeed in this mechanical world.

This young lass, whose sunny disposition has made her very popular among her classmates, is one of our best athletes. She captained this year's basketball team. In addition to athletics, Cecelia takes great interest in dramatics, as was proven in the Senior Class Play. "Ceil" hopes to become somebody's stenographer.

"Fat," as William is known to most of his friends, comes from the little borough of Alburtis. William is both an over-active senior lad, and an expert on white turkeys. The Senior Class wishes William luck and success.

"Wes" is the lad of our class, who seems to have that certain something, which always brings him into trouble. Despite this, he is always cheerful and friendly. He comes from the neighboring town of Alburtis. His one hope and desire is to join the Army Air Corps after graduation. Here's wishing you the best of everything, "Wes!"

Gloria can be seen working after school at the Pioneer Dry Cleaners or helping her sister in the office of the Emmaus Shirt Factory. We're sure Gloria will succeed in anything she undertakes.

"Fiji" is one of the smaller members of our class. With her cheery disposition and willingness to work, she has won the favor of her classmates and of her teachers. Her hobby is writing letters, and, since she is wearing a diamond, she must hope some day soon to be a housewife. Lots of luck!

Here is a tall, blue-eyed lad with an interesting character and a cheerful disposition. Lutsey's favorite subject is mechanical drawing, which occupies both his time and conversation. He is also interested in aviation. After graduation, Lutsey expects to join Uncle Sam's Navy.

"Jenny" is one of the chief cooks and bottle washers in the cafeteria. She can often be heard singing "Please Think of Me." "Jenny's" school spirit is manifest, for she is one of our ardent cheerleaders. Her powerful alto voice can well be heard, rooting her team to victory. "Jenny" hopes to become an expert typist. We're rootin' for you, "Jenny!"

Bang! What's all that noise? Oh, it is just "Kenny" practicing his Marine tactics on some innocent fellow. He hopes to make his future in the "Leathernecks." "Kenny" is an excellent guitar player and how we love to hear him sing! This young man is tall, handsome, and has a very pleasing personality. Shooting, bowling, and skating are his hobbies.

Where does all that giggling come from in assembly? Loretta and Althea are having one of their giggling spasms again. Loretta is one of the friendlier lassies of the Senior Class, who always has something cheerful to say to her classmates. Her hobbies are canoeing and listening to the radio. She plans to go to work in a defense factory to help speed up production. Good luck, Loretta.

His activities allow him little time for his hobbies, hiking and boating. Mechanically-inclined, his post war ambition is to attend an agricultural college and become a teacher.

Gloria proves the statement that good things come in small packages. The mischievous twinkle in this diminutive lass's blue eyes almost belies the fact that she is one of the better students and possesses quite a bit of dramatic talent as evidenced in the senior class play. She hopes someday to be a first class secretary.

Have you seen a tall, excited lad rushing down the hall? It's hard to keep track of "Stan," but you can bet that he's up to some mischief. Besides playing the organ and dancing, "Stan" loves to drag home stray dogs and put Freshmen in their places. Someday, he'll be an architect. Then we'll all have bigger and better homes.

"Dinny" is a tall, dark-haired boy with a shy smile and a love for mischief. Basketball and swimming rate first with him. He has hopes of becoming a radio announcer. Perhaps, someday, he'll give the class of '45 the privilege of saying proudly, "We knew him, when."

"Duffy" somehow lacks the evil temper attributed to most red-heads, for her quick, easy laugh leaves no doubt about her nature. Please don't think our "Duffy" only giggles though—she likes to sew and there are times when we might find her reading a favorite "thriller." Perhaps she'll take a try at Business College.

"Kenny," our Monitor Captain, is tall, blonde and blue-eyed. One of our commercial boys, he has a keen interest in typing. Even though his hobby is playing the clarinet, his chief ambition is to join Uncle Sam's Army Air Corps. More power to you, "Kenny!"

Small but mighty is the name for this young lady, who hails from East Macungie, and is popular with both boys and girls. Her main interest lies in singing, having had a leading part in the operetta. Since "Hazz" is engaged, she has decided to be a good housewife. We know she will succeed.

Irene, a tall, slender brunette, has a sunny disposition, which has won her a place in every heart. In her spare time, she takes in movies and is kept busy writing letters to a certain someone in the Army. Although Irene's future is uncertain, we can count on her to come out on top.

The divider pages of this book testify to the fine artistic work of this talented young man. Although Carson dexterously wields a brush, he also likes to hunt, fish, and travel. He expects to see a great deal of the world, and his classmates wish him a successful journey.

"Tootler" is a tall, brown-eyed girl, who seems reserved until her charm is revealed. She has made herself a name that will go down in the history of our class, she has sold the most "Tattler" subscriptions of anyone this year. Betty expects to take up office work after graduation.

"Pee Wee," a good-looking lad with jet black hair, is very popular with the students and faculty. Paul can usually be seen working on the stage with his fellow stage hand, "Jeff." His post-war plans are to become a mechanic. May good fortune be your portion in the world of mechanics.

Doris, one of the taciturn girls of our class, is almost always seen with her close pal, Frances. She finds delight in playing the piano and swimming. Her ambition is to become a secretary after graduation. So, here's wishing you loads of luck in the future, Doris.

Nancy Jane has acquired many friends through her "Good Samaritan" trait. A very enthusiastic sport, Nancy Jane has always been a staunch supporter at all athletic contests. She is a girl of ideals and we feel sure that she will always live up to them.

The girl, usually seen with Loretta and Annabelle is our June, who constantly tells jokes. In her spare moments, June can be found either roller-skating or dancing. Her future plans are indefinite but being a defense worker seems to appeal to her.

Activities Provide Relief and Relaxation

The rose provides a pleasant change from everyday life by adding beauty to the surroundings. This past year many of our students found extra-curricular enjoyment in our various clubs and organizations. These groups furnished a welcome change from the usual drudgeries of classes and studies. The rose differs from our clubs in that they last for a different length of time. The rose blooms for only a short time before it begins to fade and die forever. Our clubs' first phase of life is during the school term. Afterwards all that remains is a picture and a few lines on its accomplishments.

This year new clubs were introduced that gave its members a variety of things to do. For instance, participating in musical organizations, governing functions of the school, clubs, and an inspiration to all seniors, their annual class plays. Again we make a comparison with the rose. It may not develop completely without the soil, the moisture, and the proper nourishment which the sun provides. The club members, themselves, have to furnish these things in order to transform their organization into a thing of beauty.

In every club there is a purpose for which the organization exists. This corresponds to the stem of the rose. It must have a firm foundation if there is to be any hope of it bursting into full bloom at some time.

We have tried our best to make these clubs entertaining as well as an educational factor.

Journalists Treasure School Memories

This yearbook was to be not merely a senior memory book, but a record of the school year in pictures and in prose. We have tried to make this, the 1943 edition of the Tattler, as interesting as possible.

The theme for this issue was the class flower, the American Beauty Rose. Beginning our high school career as freshmen is likened to the planting of the first slip. As the rose grew to maturity, so our knowledge increased, until the long awaited day of graduation arrived.

When once the staff was organized, the various contracts were awarded. The Kutztown Publishing Company was given the printing contract; the engravings were made by the Horan Engraving Company of New York City. As last year, the Calvin Studio of Allentown handled the photographic work. Mr. Albert S. Benfield acted as literary adviser, while Mr. Elwood L. Ortt took care of the business end of the project.

To publish the yearbook, twenty-six members of the senior class were selected as the staff. They discontinued their extra-curricular activities to make this publication a success. We believe that their effort has been richly rewarded in these presents.

Free Expression In Free America

"Freedom of the press", one of our greatest heritages, is the privilege of publishing expressions of ideas or individualism in printed material, and this very freedom was exercised by the Journalistic Club in publishing our school paper.

Published by a staff of seventeen senior and twelve junior journalists, the newspaper of Emmaus High School, The Tattler, was published in eight editions during the school term. This four page periodical was filled with important news of school life, dealing with sports, social events, gossip, and everything, which had any interest to the student body.

Seldom is credit of distinction given to those, who publish "The Tattler". Learning to express their own ideas and acquiring the arts of accuracy working together, and publishing an interesting paper were just rewards for the Monday Club periods. They were not spent in vain. After faithfully serving as a journalist for two years, the senior members are awarded a journalistic key or pin.

With the assistance of Mr. Benfield and Mr. Ortt, the faculty advisers, they have done their best to publish a paper enjoyable to all.

PETTICOAT FEVER

LADIES OF THE JURY

THE CHORUS

FIRST DRAMATIC UNDERTAKING GALA OCCASION

The night of Friday, November 15, unlucky as it may sound, proved to be a successful night for the class of 1945 in the field of dramatics. On this evening, before a near capacity audience, a sterling group of performers presented a highly entertaining comedy in three acts, entitled "Petticoat Fever."

The story centered about the wireless shack of Dascom Dinsmore, an impetuous Casanova of Labrador, who played host to Ethel Campion, a beautiful young lady, and Sir James Fenton, a haughty English air adventurer. The victim of a forced landing near Dinsmore's shack, they soon become involved in strange situations arising from their host's eccentricities. Dascom lost no time in making a play for Ethel, who, being primarily devoted to Fenton, tried her best to discourage the dashing young man's advances. Meanwhile, Sir James was doing his utmost to find a way back to civilization, but the irrepressible Dascom thwarted several of these futile attempts.

Kimo, Dinsmore's Eskimo houseboy, provided many amusing incidents throughout the play. On one occasion, he caused his master considerable embarrassment by bringing two native girls into the shack without Dascom's knowledge.

The play reached its climax when Dascom's old sweetheart, Clara, appeared on the scene causing poor Dascom to be involved in further complications, that peculiarly ended happily for all. Rev. Arthur Shapham, an Arctic rector and an unusual character, added the finishing touches with a side-splitting wedding that paired up Dascom and Ethel, and Sir James and Clara.

The cast included the following:

Dascom Dinsmore .....	Harold Albright	Capt. John Landry .....	David Fowler
Ethel Campion .....	Madge Wieder	Scotty .....	Neal Apgar
Clara .....	Gloria Moyer	Snowbird .....	Madeline Reinhard
Sir James Fenton .....	Reed Hankwitz	Little Seal .....	Jean Gilbert
Kimo .....	Robert Readinger	Radio Announcer .....	Marvin Stephen
Rev. Arthur Shapham .....	Ray Gilbert

MULTITUDE ATTENDS SECOND DRAMATIC SUCCESS

The second annual Senior Class Play, "Ladies Of The Jury," was staged on Friday, April 9, 1943, in the high school auditorium.

A large audience witnessed the performance, which proved entertaining as well as humorous. The first act took place in a court room, where Mrs. Yvette Gordon was on trial for the murder of her husband. The second and third acts showed the jury room, where the fun really began. The cast of characters consisted of Mrs. Livingston Balwin Crane, a wealthy, refined, ultra modern society woman with historic New Jersey ancestry, Cecelia Kocis; Lily Pratt, a tall, prim, intellectual spinster, Lucille Romich; Mayme Mixter, a slangy, hard-boiled, flashy box-office queen in a movie theatre, June Wieder; Cynthia Tate, a college girl, Dolores Bealer; Mrs. Dace, a young wife, who worships her husband, Nancy Jane Wetherhold; Mrs. Maguire, a big fat cook with an Irish brogue, Mae Trittenbach; Mrs. Yvette Gordon, the defendant charged with murder, Hazel Urffer; Evelyn Snow, Mrs. Gordon's maid and star witness, Dornelda Godusky; Court Reporter, Betty Goheen; Jay J. Pressley, a dignified, wealthy, cold-blooded bigot, Alfred Diehl; Spencer B. Dazey, an affable real estate agent, Neal Apgar; Tony Theodolphulus, a breezy, young Greek candy-store proprietor, Harold Albright; Steve Bromm, a World War veteran, Richard McGinley; Andrew McKaig, an old Scotch gardener, Clark Apgar; Alonzo Beal, a young poet, Marvin Stephen; Judge Fish, Bernard Brosky; Halsey Van Stye, prosecuting attorney, Richard Miller; Rutherford Dale, attorney for the defense, Reed Hankwitz; Dr. Quincy Adams James, Jr., a witness at the trial, Jerald Neetz; Court Officer, Robert Readinger; Clerk of the Court, Richard Hosfeld; and the Four Waiters, Ira Lutsey, David Fowler, Ray Gilbert, and Henry Diefenderfer.

The following chairmen ably directed their committees: Evelyn Queen, Ticket and Play and Cast Selection; Jean Gilbert, Property; Neal Apgar, Publicity; and Faith Wentz, Make-Up. The play was ably directed by Mrs. Zimmerman.

HARMONIOUS SINGING GOAL OF CHORUS

Our largest musical organization, the chorus, strives for harmonious singing and achieves it, too. Its members learn not only singing but also costuming, make-up, stage presence, and the colorful staging of a musical extravaganza.

This year, the musical play, "The Bells of Beaujolais," was creditably rendered March 12. Beautiful peasant and French costumes lent color and gayety to its scenes.

Thanksgiving day, Christmastide, and assembly programs offer opportunity for this group to thrill its audiences. The annual Spring Concert marks the culmination of the year's activity of these one hundred fifteen voices.

OUR BAND BOASTS REAL MUSICIANS

Beating drums, marching feet, blaring horns, clashing cymbals, and twirling batons do not mean much separately, but, when the director combines them into perfect rhythm and harmony, he has a good band like ours.

This year the band, under the direction of Mr. Anthony Jagnesak, numbered fifty uniformed members. In most appearances, the band was led by seven, attractively attired majorettes, who provided both color and entertainment with their twirling batons and acrobatic stunts.

Besides playing at all home basketball and football contests, they also participated in several civic functions—Memorial Day parade and several Halloween parades.

Special honor was bestowed upon the band when several of its members, Richard Hosfeld, trombone; Kenneth Trump, clarinet; Charles Markley, bass; and Donald Markley, clarinet, were chosen to represent Emmaus at the P. S. M. A. at Northampton. Further honor was bestowed upon the latter three when they participated in the P. S. M. A. State Band in Farrell, Pennsylvania.

The band closed its season with the annual concert on May 21.

MAJORETTES ADD COLOR TO BAND

The seven good-looking young ladies who led the high school band at our home football games, were our majorettes. Their purpose was to add color to the band and to entertain the fans with their baton-twirling and acrobatics. The majorettes have now been a part of our musical organization for two years.

This snappy group of girls was composed of Virginia Wilson, Jean Gehman, Betty Hutchinson, Roberta Marsteller, Patricia Lester, Fay Sowers, and Esther Shimer.

MASTERS INTEREST ZEALOUS MUSIC LOVERS

The orchestra played as great a part as ever in the entertainment program this year, in both leading, and supporting roles. It accomplished much in line with its general purpose—playing the finer types of orchestral works and developing the talent of young musicians. Its members practiced diligently every Friday from noon to one o'clock (perhaps to escape the first class of the afternoon) and on certain occasions rehearsals occurred much more frequently.

In addition to furnishing a musical setting for many assembly programs, the orchestra, following the baton of Mr. Peters, was featured in most of the important bills of the year. It starred in its annual spring concert, and played for patriotic programs, a Senior Class play, the High School Operetta, and the important functions connected with graduation.

The group continually increased its repertoire to finer proportions throughout the term. This includes excerpts from operas, and classical works as well as marches, patriotic selections, and modern works. This variety is appealing to its audiences and its members alike, and does much to knit the musicians firmly into this active organization.

MUSICAL FOURSOME COMPLETES SUCCESSFUL SEASON

The high school quartet has been very active this year, participating in several assembly programs and various other events. The purpose of this group is to improve its musical ability and to provide entertainment.

Under the direction of Mr. Errol K. Peters, the quartet practices on Monday at noon. As practices progressed, its popularity increased in both singing and playing. Its future is undecided, although we know what ever they attempt will be a success.

Only two years old, the foursome has made splendid progress and has played at senior class plays, Women's Club Socials, for the sick and disabled at various hospitals.

Two of the group, Jansen Bieber and Robert McKeever are graduates. The other members are Charles Markley and Philip Nuss.

The deepest appreciation is expressed to Errol K. Peters for his faithful guidance and direction throughout the year.

FOUR GIRLS ADOPT VICTORY SYMBOL

The Three Dots and a Dash, under the direction of Mr. Peters, was organized last year in their Freshman year. The three Dots are: Anna Louise Hunsicker and Betty Mae Sell, sopranos, Mary Jane Lutsey, alto, and Eloise Kline is the Dash.

These four girls have displayed talent before audiences in the Hotel Allen, the Americus Hotel, the Allentown Exchange Club, the Red Cross Campaign Rally at the Y. M. C. A., in the High School assemblies, and many other organizations. The Emmaus High School is very proud of these four talented girls and wishes them much success in the future.

ARDENT SWINGSTERS OFFER DANCE SPECIALTIES

To become a member of this popular organization, one should have musical ability in general, and capability to play swing music in particular.

Upon numerous occasions, the Dance Orchestra was able to exhibit its accomplishment, when it furnished the music for the Junior Minstrel, the gym exhibition dances, some assembly programs, for the dancing club, and for the Student Council dance.

This band of musicians, accompanied by Eloise Kline, was directed by Mr. Peters.

MUSICAL LADIES CHARM THEIR AUDIENCES

The Girls' Glee Club composed of Sophomore, Junior, and Senior songsters, has just completed another successful year. Under the baton of Mr. Peters, the Glee Club met weekly in the balcony of the auditorium, where they united their voices to sing in harmony difficult compositions by famous composers.

The club, numbering approximately fifty members, exhibited its talents by appearing in the Christmas Program, and in the annual Spring Concert. It was then revealed what effort they had expended and how great was their achievement.

The members need no special talent, for it is the purpose of the club to develop the girls' voices to the greatest possible musical finish. Since the club meets during the class periods, activity credit points are given participants.

LEVEL HEADS WATCH SCHOOL BEHAVIOR

The object of this organization is to stimulate school spirit, to uphold the laws and regulations of our school, and to establish a close relationship between the faculty and the student body. The membership consists of two representatives, a boy and a girl, from each home room. One representative is elected by the student body of the homeroom and the other is appointed by the teacher. This year, as last year, three students from the Lincoln School have engaged in the discussions.

The Board of Judges is a branch of Student Council, consisting of three Student Council members, three Monitor Club members, and the President and Secretary of Student Council. The Board meets any time after a case has been reported by the Monitor Club to try the case.

Recommendations and discussions this year included: Continuation of movie and lyceum dues, noon-rush for cafeteria, scholarship, activity, and attendance banners, Student Victory Employment bureau, and keeping floors clean.

MONITORS GOVERN GENTLY BUT FIRMLY

One of the most outstanding clubs of Emmaus High School is the Monitor club, consisting of thirty-seven Juniors and Seniors. The members are selected by the Senior monitors from applications submitted by students of the junior class.

The Monitor's duty is to enforce the laws pertaining to the student traffic in and about school. For this purpose the monitors are posted at selected points in the school halls, and about the school. The Monitors are on duty during change of classes and at lunch hour. The names of student violators are handed to the faculty adviser and captain of the Monitor club. After a time the persons so reported may be asked to appear before the Board of Judges.

During the year, it was found necessary by the Monitor Club to add a few new rules to those already in existence. These new rules proved a help in preventing some of the traffic problems in school.

GYM JAM JIVE FOR RUG CUTTERS

Calling all rug-cutters and fox-trotters. Proceed immediately to the gym floor where, on Monday at 2:45, you will find a group of fun-loving swingsters and jitter-bugs coming in on the beam. Take it from me—those cats are solid! Their officers: President, Virginia Wilson; Vice-President, Neal Apgar; Secretary, Gloria Moyer and Treasurer, Betty Correll, are really hep to the jive. When our local cats congregate, it's one sweet session (in a floor shaking sort of a way). So get hep, Jackson—beat it out, and maybe, that cute little blonde will swing the next waltz with you.

MARKSMEN TO HELP UNCLE SAM

Shooting as a sport is typically American. In fact, rifle shooting may well be called the original American sport. In the days of the pioneers when most of our country was savage wilderness, "shooting at a mark" was the favorite game of these men. The saga of American riflemen is a glorious heritage for the modern target shooter. It is linked eternally with great names in the history of this nation. Think of Daniel Boone, Davey Crockett, Argonne, Wake Island, Bataan—there is no end to the list of sharp-shooting Americans and their deeds.

During this year in our high school we, also, have had excitement and thrills on our rifle range. The members were instructed in the fundamentals of a rifle, safety, sighting, aiming, the use of slings, gloves, and shooting jackets, and the four positions of shooting—prone, sitting, kneeling, and off hand. Our school is one of the few, which have a charter from the United States Government as a Junior Rifle Club. The club has been trying its best to make marksmen out of its members to help Uncle Sam. As a special feature the club has been teaching thirty-three non-member junior boys in this art. The Armed Forces are being seriously hampered, because less than two men of every hundred, who go to training centers, know anything about rifle marksmanship. Let's help to change this condition next year.

ATHLETIC GIRLS ACHIEVE POISE AND GRACE

The Girls' Athletic Club is a selected group of Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors, who have been very ambitious and cooperative in making this club a great success this year.

The purpose of the club is to develop poise, co-ordination, balance, and rhythm. It features: marching, tumbling, gymnastics, calisthenics, tap dancing, and aesthetic dancing. After practicing the whole term to master these features, the girls participated in the Annual Gymnasium Exhibition held in the Spring and the High School Gymnasium Championship held at the East Stroudsburg State Teachers' College.

At the close of their Senior year, members, who have participated in events during the previous years, are given an athletic award. Those eligible are: Bealer, Gilbert, Hamscher, Hauser, Hoffman, Reinhard, Stephen, and Urffer.

GREGG-ITES SPEED ON TO VICTORY

With the motto, "Practice Makes Perfect," the Gregg Speedists Club under the supervision of Mrs. Charles N. Benfield, is composed of juniors and seniors who are majoring or minoring in the commercial department.

Keen competition is aroused among the members of the club by conducting various groups of speed tests so that the students may increase their skills in speed and accuracy which are preparatory aid so vital in war production, civil service, and defense.

At the end of the year, a small award is presented to the student who attains the highest speed and the greatest accuracy. This prize is presented at a get-together which is arranged by the club members.

BETTER MEALS ENGROSS FUTURE HOUSEWIVES

Um, what's cookin? That mouth-watering aroma comes from the cafeteria, where Mrs. Reining, with the aid of the girls, is preparing the noon meal for the hungry students.

This year the cafeteria is controlled by the State. It is under the rationing system just as any other restaurant, but does not receive quite as many supplies. We are proud of our cafeteria and the appetizing meals, which are prepared. Menus are planned by Miss McLean.

The cafeteria has offered many opportunities and experiences for the girls, such as: preparing and serving food for school banquets, and preparing meals for teachers at noontime.

RURAL LEADERS IN THE MAKING

At last! A youth organization to develop rural leadership! And these boys are going to town. At State College, they judged potatoes, dairy cattle, livestock, and poultry; they spoke publicly in several speaking contests; they put on two radio programs, and set out a winning exhibit at the Allentown Fair.

One of them, Richard Miller, was elected Vice President of the regional Chapter of F. F. A. and delegate to the State Convention at Harrisburg, Pa.

The boys celebrated a hot Halloween party; they purchased broiler batteries and raised 500 baby chicks into broilers and sold them for a neat profit; they built an electric hotbed; and they planted 1000 trees on school property.

They sat down to a banquet on April 21.

All pitched in to help bring in crops. Seventy-five boys and girls worked 2150 hours and earned $645.00.

SERVICE CLUB INculcates LOFTY IDEALS

The Girl Reserves club was established as a branch of the Young Women's Christian Association for the purpose of creating friends, discovering new things, and to learn more about God and their country.

The local club meets the first and third Monday during the first semester and every Monday during the second, due to the introduction of the Junior Red Cross department.

Each member of the Girl Reserves tries to uphold her code:

"Gracious in manner—Impartial in judgment—Ready for service—Loyal to friends—Reaching toward the best—Earnest in purpose—Seeing the beautiful—Eager for knowledge—Reverent to God—Victorious over self—Ever dependable—Sincere at all times."

CLEAN BOYS ADVOCATE IDEAL LIVING

The Hi-Y is composed of both sophomore, junior, and senior boys who believe in upholding the Young Men's Christian Associations high standards in our local high school. The function of the club is to gather or bring together boys who are interested in straightening out the certain conditions prevailing in the school and community. The group meets on the first and third Thursdays of each month in room 16. Mr. Becker advises the young men, and he explains the aims of the club to the new members each year.

The emblem, their main feature, is a red triangular shaped figure, symbolizes the three-fold development of our lives: in body, mind, and spirit. The white cross stands for purity in action and thought. The emblem inspires the boys to the kind of service emulative of the Savior.

The platform which the Hi-Y maintains, consists of four planks: clean speech, clean living, clean scholarship, and clean sports.

INTERESTED NOVICES LEARN LIBRARY ROUTINE

A year ago, Miss Ruth P. Nestleroth, our librarian, organized a library club, composed of freshmen and sophomore girls. Each member works in the library one period a week, for which she earns ten credit points. If by the end of the junior year, she accumulates one thousand points she is awarded the library E, which she may wear throughout her senior year.

The girls must also read two new books of their own choice a year. Besides, they make posters, using slogans to encourage reading different types of books. Otherwise, their work consists mainly in shelving books, learning the elementary steps of book binding, running library errands, and generally assisting the librarian.

ARMY COURSE AIDS RADIO ENTHUSIASTS

The Radio Club has actually become one of the school's most active groups in spite of its short history and small membership. The club was organized by Mr. Klingaman, science teacher and ardent radio enthusiast. Originally there were many members on its roll, but several, finding that the club's program involved a little work, dropped. The remaining skeleton crew of interested fellows has since made great strides in the study of "radio magic." When Mr. Klingaman left the faculty to engage in scientific research at The Johns Hopkins University, the club was taken over by Mr. Gilbert.

Mr. Klingaman purchased the standard Army radio course and forms for practice in studying codes. The boys practiced diligently with the help of official phonograph records to learn to transmit and receive signals. In addition they have completed a course in radio construction and maintenance. Their months of instruction and practice will be of tremendous advantage in any future radio career which they take up.

The active members of the club are Walter Jarrett, Charles Keller, Jesse Miller, Sterling Schreiber, and Eugene Walters.

THIS CLUB DEVELOPS "FLYING FINGERS"

Twenty-eight Seniors met faithfully on alternate Thursday afternoons to improve skills, that produce greater proficiency in transcription of shorthand notes.

Occasional parties added color to these periods. And the time was spent on their favorite discussions, or arguments, unless witty humorous stories by our President were on the program—only to be laid aside for refreshments, the common meeting ground of all.

FUTURE CRAFTSMEN ENCOURAGES HOBBIES

The Future Craftsmen of America, an organization operating through the public school systems of the United States, was founded in Detroit, Michigan on November 6, 1936. The purpose of this organization is to promote the spirit of craftsmanship, to provide opportunity for experience in leadership, to encourage interest in hobbies and leisure time, and to motivate studious attitude among youth interested in craftsmanship.

The creed:

I believe:

In honest labor and earnest endeavor because they bring joy to life.

In the cooperation of Craftsmen, by which they strengthen each other's hands.

In service through leadership, because it makes progress possible.

That the achievement of a true Craftsman reveals his ideals and his final aim.

In the training of the mind, the development of character, and the mastery of the body.

That the supreme reward of a real Craftsman is expressed by Him who looked upon His Own work and said, "It is very good."

Strong Stems Developed by Co-ordination

It is perhaps difficult for many to see a place for athletics in a theme based on the life and growth of a rose. In fact, it was hard for us to conceive of such a thing at first. But when we compare a human being without athletic activities and a climbing rose without a trellis a strong similarity is evident. A wooden frame gives a rosebush support to prevent its becoming weak and crooked. It allows the plant to build strength and use it to climb in the right direction toward a strong, symmetric perfection. As far as our life is concerned, participation in athletic fields accomplishes the same general result. And we must remember that the crooked, drooping and stunted rose often cannot get its share of sunshine. The human weakling, physically undeveloped, is often in a comparable position.

1942 Green Hornets Win Four Games

With eleven lettermen returning around whom to build their team, Coaches Hartman and Gilbert issued their first call for football practice on Monday, August 31.

After three weeks of toughening-up exercises under their belts, the 1942 edition of the Green Hornets inaugurated its season by entertaining the Vikings of Central Catholic on September 19. After Emmaus led at halftime 6-0, Central Catholic came from behind in the last quarter to gain a 6-6 tie. The following week the Green and Gold handed Stroudsburg a 6-0 setback after a hard fought game. October 3 saw the start of a three game losing streak by our boys. Northampton handed us our first defeat 27-0, followed by Slatington's 13-0 triumph, and finally Catasauqua won a 13-12 victory. On October 24, the Green Hornets snapped their losing streak by defeating the Indians of Lehighton 6-0. Even though they outplayed their opponents throughout the game, Emmaus didn't score until the final quarter.

A mediocre Boyertown High team furnished the opposition for our annual "Booster Day" game. Starting a revamped lineup Emmaus played its best game of the season and had the game sewed up by halftime. Even with substitutes playing the greater part of the second half, the Green and Gold juggernaut rolled on. When the smoke of battle had cleared, Emmaus had earned a 33-6 victory as well as a holiday from school the following Monday.

Playing at Palmerton on November 7, Emmaus suffered its fourth setback as the Blue Bombers handed our boys a 19-0 beating. Journeying to East Greenville for their next game, the Green and Gold handed their hosts a 19-0 setback.

The final game of the season saw the locals playing their first Thanksgiving game away from home, for they traveled to Hokendauqua to oppose their arch rivals, Whitehall High School. Though the Zephyrs were heavy favorites to win, the Green and Gold put up a stiff battle before going down to a 6-0 defeat. This game characterized the never-say-die spirit of our boys which was an outstanding feature of all their games.

Emmaus was rather fortunate in being able to play its full ten game schedule in spite of war-time restrictions. The transportation to and from the games was furnished by private cars.

The dance floor of the Owls' Home was the site of the annual football banquet on November 30. The guest speakers were George Hoban, head football coach at Lehigh University until the time of his death last winter, and Leo Prendergast, assistant football coach at Lehigh. The football used in the "Booster Day" game was presented to Gene Miller for playing his position best in that particular game. The Mary Deischer trophy for the most valuable player during his high school career was presented to Captain Richard McGinley. The Dr. Lichtenwalner trophy, for showing the most improvement during the past season, was presented to Frank Flamisch and Alfred Diehl.

Eight members of this team which won four, lost five and tied one, were lost through graduation. They are Captain Richard McGinley, Alfred Diehl, Lawrence Durback, Adam Hieter, Bruce Hilbert, Walter Milinchik, Kermit Schuler, and Marvin Stephen.

CAGE SQUAD BATTLES STIFF ODDS

This year's team was unfortunately not blessed with a skeleton of varsity veterans from previous squads. Our cagers formed their own methods of play and scoring technique in a short time. They played a rather inconsistent season of games with some shining encounters and some that were not inspiring. But, as it happened, the brilliant games often occurred, when comparatively little depended on the outcome, and the weak games usually accompanied the higher stakes. We finished a thirty-per cent season with six victories out of twenty possibilities.

Although the boys worked fairly well as a group, there were several individualistic achievements. Each of the two seniors on the squad was distinctive in his field. Stephen, varsity captain, was an especially good defense man, playing a steady game with good judgment. Hilbert, our center, did well on the scoring end, amassing heavy totals particularly in the first half of the season and making the highest foul goal percentage. For all around top scoring, however, we honor Kocis, a junior member, who piled up 190 points and averaged nine and a half points per game. At his best, he is one of the school's ablest ball-hawks in recent years. Our star passer and play starter was Reinert, who really showed gifts of speed, accuracy, and deception in handling the ball and improved his technique as the season passed. Perhaps the most consistent and stable member of the first five was Schantzenbach, the last of a family of Green and Gold basketball men.

Our most gratifying victory this year was the Slatington game at Emmaus. It was unexpected and required one of our best performances. Our worst loss was suffered at the hands of Allentown Catholic High School. The tightest struggles were at Hellertown and at Bethlehem Catholic; the latter almost ran into an extra period.

The junior varsity boys led by Varsity substitutes had a 53 per cent season. They showed great promise. They worked their plays well as a team, even surpassing the top quintet in this respect. Their closest contest was at Stroudsburg, where a last second enemy basket spelled their defeat.

FIGHTING LASSIES PLAY TOUGH SCHEDULE

Under the skillful coaching of Mrs. Pauline Jagnesak, the fiery sextet displayed teamwork and action in its games. Despite the fact that there remained only two letter winners from last year, the team played well and completed the basketball season with two victories, four defeats, and one tie.

The following lassies performed for Alma Mater for the last time on the basketball floor: LaRue Dries, Fern Hamscher, and Captain Cecelia Kocis and Madge Wieder, Student Manager.

CINDERMAN STILL CARRY SCHOOL COLORS

Baseball was a casualty of war here, as well as at many other high schools, and prospects of track seemed doubtful, but, eventually, the call was sounded and thirty-two (32) determined youths reported for the first practice of the current season. Practices were held both in and outdoors as the weather permitted.

Although some of the best material of last year's team was lost through graduation, Coach Thomas Schrader succeeded in building up a team just as good as the previous one. Among these were: Edward Sikorski, Woodrow Walbert and Steve Miklos.

Lack of tires and difficulty in obtaining gasoline was the cause of the team not being able to travel from school to school as was the custom in former years. Because of this condition a limited schedule was drawn up, and the meets were played on foreign soil.

This year, many excellent trackmen were graduated, among whom were: Lutsey, Schuler, Hoffman, Fowler, Schaffer, Brown, Derr, Rinker, and student manager Diefenderfer.

CHEERS AID ATHLETES TO VICTORY

A very special bouquet for the little girls, who have cheered our teams on to victory through the year. There's a lot of sweat and toil tossed into the melting pot, before a well-organized team is shaped. Our cheerleaders have done their utmost to keep up the spirit of our athletes. In their attractive green and gold, Captain Elaine Hauser, Jean Gilbert, Geneva Marsteller, Annetta Stephen, Madeline Reinhard, Betty Correll, Joan Pennebaker, Julia Sikorski, and Jean Flores, have inspired our boys with their unfaltering confidence and encouraged them to prize a clean and friendly conflict as highly as a winning game.

FINE PERFORMANCE BY BOYS' GYM TEAM

The boys' gym team, which for many years has been giving outstanding exhibitions, was somewhat at a loss during the 1945 season. Lost through graduation were Steve Miklos, Willard Fisher, Wilmer Hertzog, Russell Fellman, and Harry Knecht. But, in this dark cloud was a silver lining in such performers as Kermit Schuler, Donald Genther, Walter Moyer, and several promising underclassmen.

One of the accomplishments of the boys was the teamwork they achieved. Teamwork is important in that it teaches the boys to work together as one. Another was learning how to fall correctly. As most of us know, this is important in the Army or other branches of service.

Under the able guidance and coaching of Mr. Hartman, the boys gave a very good performance at the annual exhibition. As usual, the clown amused the audience with funny antics. This year the boys presented an amusing specialty called "The Ally Oop Boys" which entertained the audience immensely. The exhibition was well liked by all who attended.

Our Financial Supporters on Review

When reading a yearbook, the advertisements are usually overlooked or forgotten entirely. We hope that this will not be the case in reading our annual. We should not forget that advertisers are the principal life-line of nearly all yearbooks and our TATTLER is no exception.

We will try to unfold this commercial section not just as the end of the book but parallel to our theme. Therefore, just as the Florist shows his greenhouse kept products, so the merchants in the surrounding vicinity advertise their products and services in this book. Through their fine co-operation and faithful support a greater portion of this project has been made possible.

It's team
Victories

We must all do our part freely, willingly, sacrificially, yes, prayerfully. Our boys are giving their all and not asking why, or, is it necessary, or, can't we do it tomorrow. This is no time to offer excuses but to act. . . You can help now by . . . Enlisting in some Civilian Defense work or the Red Cross. . . Making the sacrifices you are asked to undergo, cheerfully, and patriotically. . . Offering your help, not waiting until you are asked. . . Support all War Programs wholeheartedly and liberally, and keep buying War Bonds which is not a sacrifice but an opportunity to invest some of your income in the best security in the world—Your Country.
